

Global Freedom Insurance

The most expensive policy is the one you don't have when your family needs it.

A free, plain-English gift — no pitch, just clarity. A few things every family should know to protect what matters most.

Gifted Gifts

- Name a number: how many months could your family last without your income?
- Lock in coverage while you're healthy — it's cheapest the day you don't need it.
- Check your beneficiaries today — most are years out of date.
- Don't insure the small stuff; protect against what could ruin you.
- Put a 'where everything lives' note where your family can find it.

Trade Tricks

- Review beneficiaries yearly — life changes faster than paperwork.
- Match the term to the need — cover the years people depend on you.
- Read what's actually covered before you need it.

CYNDEE'S CURE

Avoiding the insurance conversation because it's morbid? Reframe it: this isn't about dying, it's about loving. One afternoon of planning is one of the kindest gifts you'll ever give the people you love.

BRETT'S BEST

Protect against what could wipe you out, not what would merely annoy you. Skip the tiny add-ons and put real coverage where a single event could change your family's life.

Consider these our gift to you — freely given, no strings. If they helped, there's more waiting when you're ready.
